

Let me remind all women that we live longer and better lives when we have sisters we love, not necessarily born in our bloodline or of our race. Sisters.

Maya Angelou

I can promise you that women working together — linked, informed and educated — can bring peace and prosperity to this forsaken planet.

Isabel Allende

Every woman's success should be an inspiration to another. We're strongest when we cheer each other on.

Serena Williams

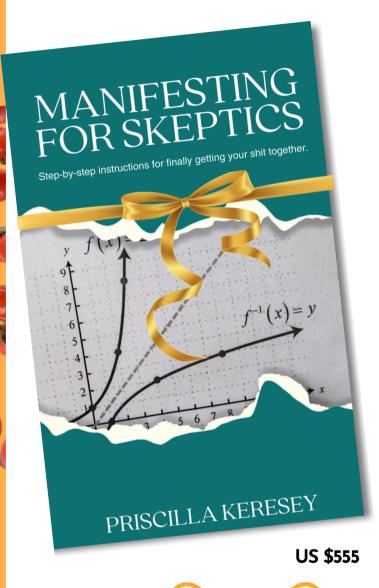

Tired of not having your shit together?

When you're living a life that doesn't look or feel anything like you'd imagined it would, every day is a slog, isn't it? You wake up each morning thinking maybe this is the day things will change — and then you go to bed with a shrug, hoping for a better tomorrow. You just can't seem to figure out how to create that better tomorrow. Sometimes you think you must be the only person alive who didn't get a set of instructions when you got here.

That used to be my life. Out of frustration, I spent years in search of those instructions because, as an extremely practical, non-woo person, I assumed that someone, somewhere, had to have created them. Plot twist: No one had. So I set out to do it. The result is a no-punches-pulled, no-pertinent-info-coyly-withheld course, how-to guide, and workbook (along with audio files), that teaches skeptics like me how to manifest. Yes, manifest. Stick with me here...

IT'S NOT A SECRET. IT'S A FORMULA.

From: Me

To: Me

There really is a formula for creating the life you want. It's not about wishful thinking. It has nothing to do with living a "high vibe" life, though that is often a benefit of following this formula. It certainly doesn't require that you believe in any one ideology. And it is, quite literally, a formula. (Yes, as in math. Or chemistry.) Once I had the core components in place, I tested it over and over again. I tested it on myself, my clients, my friends, and on anyone else who was willing (without rolling their eyes too hard) to indulge me just one more time. It worked. It worked every time.

So I created Manifesting for Skeptics, a course, workbook, and guide to creating the life you desire. In it you'll learn the step-by-step instructions to get all manner of your shit together: financial, material, romantic, professional, health... you name it. Because no matter who you are or what you believe, this formula works, if you just follow the steps.

In fact, when you purchase this course, you'll receive specific instructions for manifesting the price you paid for it. After that? The sky's the limit.

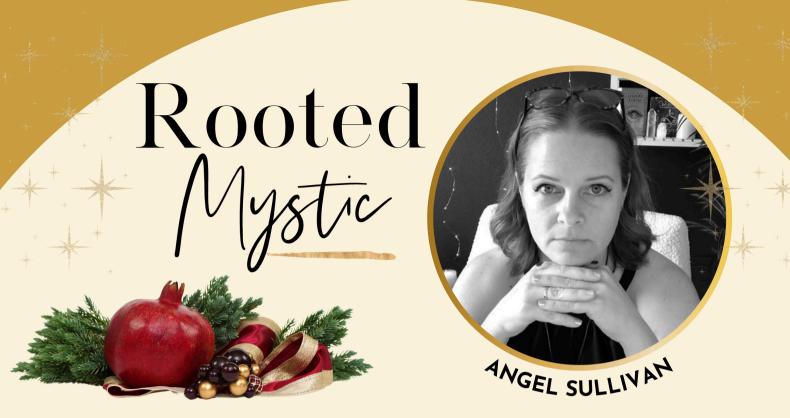

Folk Potions isn't just skincare. It's a symphony for your senses; the seductive promise of well-being for every part of you. We weave our simple, yet potent spells with the earth's finest offerings – a vibrant chorus of herbs, roots, and blossoms, all sourced from sun-drenched farms or our own backyard haven. Wildcrafted wonders and botanicals are infused in nutrient-rich oils and then combined with luscious plant-based butters and beeswax to create uniquely effective skin-nourishing products.

Folk Potions Magic Face Oil starts with organic extra virgin olive oil, organic castor oil, avocado oil, and organic apricot kernel oil. This luscious moisturizing blend is infused with organic flowers for 6 weeks. Lavender, calendula, yarrow, chamomile, plantain, and dandelion all are known for their nurturing powers. These plants absorb the energy of the sun & the earth and transform it into moisturizing beauty. Rose Hip Seed Oil is added for the cell regenerating, fine line-tightening and collagen-producing qualities it provides. Finally, the essential oils of chamomile, rose, neroli and frankincense are blended in. The smell is darkly floral and misty.

I spent many years (read: decades) trying to live life the way I thought I should.

The way 'everyone else' seemed to. Then, something inside me cracked open, and I just couldn't. Any. Longer. I left my long-time career in IT and took some time to recover from severe burnout before deciding I had to figure out how to do things my way. Several years, and much loss, later, here we are.

Now, at midlife, I'm Learning to Live Again. (PS: I often speak in lyrics and quotes, and get a HUGE kick out of it when someone catches something and points it out to me. May the odds be ever in your favor.)

I'm practicing skating.

I'm reading more and stressing less.

I greet the Sun in the morning and Auntie Luna at night.

I take time to listen to the wind and the birds.

And... Not only do I design brands and websites through the lens of archetypal astrology, I work with astrology, Death as Ally, and divination (among other things) to help humans who want to bring Ordinary Magick back into day-today life.

Because Life isn't meant to be flat all the time. You're meant for magick.

Cosmic Insights, Practical Wisdom (Not just another astrology reading)

In times of profound transformation, understanding your cosmic blueprint can illuminate the way forward.

I offer focused astrological consultations that honor both the immediate beauty and the profound layers of your being. By concentrating our exploration on a single realm—career/business or relationships—we create space for genuine awareness, clarity, and validation.

This isn't lightweight astrology.

We'll traverse the territory where celestial wisdom meets deep awareness, where your cosmic blueprint reveals the undercurrents of your existence.

What you'll receive:

- Chart analysis, alongside my own intuition, with a focus on either Career/Business or Relationships (your choice)
- Recorded video transmission of insights
- Written transcript (upon request)
- Transformative perspectives that honor both light and shadow

(This offering is delivered as a recorded reading, allowing you to absorb the wisdom at your own pace and return to it as needed. There is no live call.)

Patti Digh

I'm a writer and thinker. Via story and humor, I challenge people's thinking, grounding my work in inclusion, kindness, generosity of spirit, authenticity, and integrity. I've been described as "a wrecking ball for the current paradigm." I believe there is no them, only us.

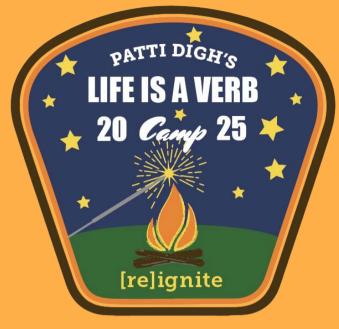

Having spent three decades creating diversity strategies and educational programming, speaking all over the world, and creating community, I've seen some things. (Especially in the corporate world. Wowee.) My day-to-day activities are different now, but my offer is what it's always been: I am here to recognize the deep worth of all people, help them see it too, and provide tools we can all use to make transformational change in our lives, organizations, communities, and societies.

IENNIFER

I'm a Cleveland-based painter, illustrator, and writer. I speak terrible franglais (French/English mix) and I paint what pops in my soul and demands to come to life. My work focuses on several things including, nature, being human, and on black culture and what it means to exist in black bodies, with emphasis on black women girls. l'm particularly interested and illuminating the ordinary because there is something both achingly beautiful and immensely political, dare I say revolutionary, about the ability to exist and move about the world safely and confidently in ordinary ways. I have a BA in psychology and an MA in art therapy counseling. I am primarily a self-taught artist. As I girl, I desperately wanted be Chaka Khan and Debbie Allen. If you understand leopard print, you understand me. And... I spent my formative years in a house filled with navy blue carpet and blue and golden yellow room accessories. The couch was light blue crushed velvet. We had a slide top stereo and it played 8 tracks. There was also a white crushed velvet arm chair. This should explain everything.

Clients say that my talent is spooky. It does seem to border on the psychic, but perhaps it's just deep mastery. Whatever it is: I am able to read people and know exactly how they (and their services and products) need to be positioned. It's impossible to replicate — and it makes me very good at what I do. With more than 20 years of creative marketing experience, I've made my mark on global corporations and bespoke advisories alike.

Partly as a reaction to the standard nonsense that's tolerated at traditional agencies, I created Crow Haus to provide drama-free, attitude-free creative and strategic services to entrepreneurs. We're transparent, kind, and willing to have the hard conversations. We're in it with you for the long run.

Because you're busy running a business.

True story: You never signed up to become a social media subject matter expert. (Our clients tend to be pretty adamant about this.) The thing is, you absolutely don't have to. That's what our "IDGAF About TikTok, I Just Want My Social Media to Work" Plan. We keep track of the trends, separate the treasure from the trash, figure out what will last and what's just a silly flash in the pan. Let us handle it for you, while providing as much or as little detail as you prefer.

Need to brainstorm a few ideas you've got brewing? Not sure what your best option is? The "Help Me Get This Out of My Head and Identify My Next Move" Strategy is a 1-hour consult call on any marketing topics that are on your mind: social media, content, branding, or anything else that ails you. We'll ask questions, consider the possibilities, and offer expert recommendations and insights that will give you clarity about the path you're on and how you can reach your ideal destination.

Give us your tired Word docs, your huddled PDFs yearning to breathe free, the wretched clip art of bygone trends. Our "Works Fine, But Needed Updating Years Ago" Method has you (slip-) covered. Tell us how you use them now, what works about them, what horrifies you about them. (No shame; we've seen it all.) Whether we're re-writing, re-designing, or both, we'll breathe new, brand-appropriate life into them, and you can breathe easy, knowing it's taken care of.
